

To the Point of Expiration

My Father and my God when I think of the term Armor-bearing, I automatically think of taking care of and/or preparing for battle, the weapons are being prepared by the armor-bearer (servant) for the individual who is going to battle. I have been given new and needed insights as to what a spiritual armor-bearer is related to actually putting on the armor and engaging in a physical battle. It is putting the armor on which prepares me mentally to do spiritual battle with the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.

“Open my eyes Lord!” have I indeed been introduced to yet another principle in which I can gain a clearer understanding in which I thought I could not love you more? I have pondered the concept that suggest to be an armor-bearer “I must be totally consumed with the preparations and success of another, to the point of expiration.”

What a piece of something to consider! I am just coming to grips with the totality, and or the finality of the archetype of expiration. I cannot think of any greater paradigm shift that expresses love more than to take my last breath knowing that I have run the race well without the “I” taking the credit and all the “buts” are drowned in expiration which is the termination of my will. “But,” yet not my will any longer Father “but” the will that aligns with Your Spirit.

My son you have indeed come to the point of beginning to understand love. The agape love that my Son Jesus has for Me is the essence of the love He has for all His heirs. You indeed have the DNA, as do all My children to love beyond yourself.

My son, the armor bearing is the essence of I Am, it brings out and purges your very soul, and its true value lies in the unique termination of self to view your fellow man as I see him.

My son, just as I see you as a precious work in progress you are to accept others as even more precious. More than yourself, the carnal nature of self that acts as a cancer will attack your spiritual DNA, just as any viral infection will destroy the flesh. The problem with the spiritual viral infection, although it will ultimately destroy your flesh, more importantly will hinder Our relationship, and in extreme cases will contaminate how your will impedes the “I AM,” of you and Your Father to function Spirit to spirit.

My son put on the full armor as an armor-bearer knowing that it will protect you fully in all your endeavors; it is the ultimate defense for the ultimate offence to outwardly expose your true self. The self that knows I will meet every need in order that you may rid yourself of self. That true self then will be the ointment to heal through loving servant-hood to expiration in eternity.